Emirates Airlines will add 31 weekly flights to its stops in India

DUBAI - Emirates Airlines will add 31 weekly flights to its stops in India. This is Emirates' second service expansion this year.

While Mumbai and New Delhi will benefit the most, Emirates will add flights to Bengaluru, Chennai, Hyderabad and Kochi.

Salem Obaidalla, Emirates's senior vice-president for the region attributed the growth to the liberalization of the open skies policy in India and an increase in demand from passengers.

"The additional frequencies have been timed to offer passengers more consistent schedules and seamless connections to onward points in Europe, the Americas, Africa and the Middle East," Obaidalla said.

The plan will result in 35 flights per week to Mumbai, 25 to New Delhi and 20 to Bangalore and help increase the export capacity of pharmaceutical, garment, chemical and agricultural products from India.
